STAGING WORKS!

Staged homes sell faster and for higher than homes not staged. Why?

- Provides better pictures for online listing translating to higher traffic of buyers to the home
- Potential buyers walk in and can immediately envision living in the home
- Home buyers shop with logic but buy with emotions. Staging helps make that connection.

Ceecees Interiors is committed to overall excellent client experience in all its services including home staging in Oakville and in the GTA. Contact Chioma for enquiries.

Personal Experience

Chioma put her own vacant home for sale without staging. It sat on the market for 5 months with little activity. She decided to stage it and had multiple offers above asking within 3 weeks, and closed with within 2 weeks! The buyer said, "I visited this home 2 months prior but couldn't understand the flow and did not know the rooms were this big." The buyer also hired Ceecees Interiors to furnish and decorate the home after purchase. Double win!

What others say about Ceecees Interiors

"Chioma has the perfect eye for coordination of colors, aesthetics, space utilization and design. She is fantastic to work with and has such a pleasant energy. You'll love working with her and seeing her magic completely transform your space." – Zya Abii

"Attention to detail and very professional. Worked collaboratively with me and helped manage my expectations given tight timelines. Very impressed with the end result of the project. Would definitely recommend." – E. F., Oakville

"You never cease to amaze me! You turned this plain house into a show piece and did it with their own furnishings! What you do is incredible and such thinking outside the box! Your staging resulted in multiple offers the next day! Well done I would say! – Ho, Mississauga

Ontario Home Staging Services:

Oakville, Mississauga, Milton, Burlington, Halton Hills, Brampton, Toronto, Guelph, Cambridge and the Greater Toronto Area.

This master bedroom lacked a grand and elegant look. Bed was awkwardly positioned right across from the entrance and a tall chest of drawers obstructed free movement. Chioma completely transformed the room by rearranging the furniture, introduced new pieces and removing others. Art work and accessories completed the look.

This home office's potential was hidden by misplaced furniture and bad lightening. Not showing in the before picture is an over crowded bookshelf. Chioma transformed the space by introducing more light and rearranging the furnishings to make it more inviting. Artwork and accessories complement the zen ambience of this home office.

This dining space was small and cluttered. With some subtle rearrangement, it now looks bigger and allows for good movement with the focal point of the sliding doors that lead to a beautiful back deck visible and accessible.

Chioma has an MBA and also a Masters in Human Resources Management. During her 12 years of working as an HR professional in the corporate world, she did numerous interior decoration and home styling work for friends and family.

Due to her passion for interior design, Chioma embarked on a 3-year formal education in Interior Design. Knowing there's a big difference between designing a home to live in and staging a home to sell, Chioma has done extensive training in Home Staging and styling to enhance her skills in preparing homes for sale to appeal to more buyers. Since launching Ceecees Interiors, Chioma has successfully staged homes that have sold above asking price.

Chioma believes in continuous learning and skills improvement to ensure she is equipped to provide her clients with the most current and effective solution to their varying needs. Her many years in HR and handling high-level projects have honed her keen eye for detail and remarkable people skills.
