

Staged homes sell for more money and as a graduate of the Staging Diva Program, Denise Hill is equipped to do just that. Getting top dollar from one of your biggest assets is an experience she can relate to and the solution you need. Leave your house in her hands so someone else can make it their home.

SHE'S BEEN THERE

Moving can be a stressful time in someone's life, whether its to get out of a "not so great" situation, expanding your family, job relocation or a first home there are so many obstacles to think about during this time. Denise has had the experience of having to sell her home due to unfortunate events. She is aware of how important and pressing these times can be in someone's life and is on board to alleviate that stress from your situation.

One of the homes Denise sold was in a bidding war and there's nothing more exhilarating than that. All it takes is knowing what you have and how to improve upon it. The realtor saw the home before it was staged and when she seen it after she said "Oh my goodness what a big difference. The place is beautiful".

Sometimes it's just the minor details that can make all the difference and Denise certainly has the eye for design.

In addition, Denise's skills as a secretary and teacher's assistant will be a benefit to you during this time by keeping you organized and calm. If you're looking to stage your home to sell, redesigning it for a fresh look or just need some help organizing or decluttering your home, then Denise is the person for you. Her ability to recreate a house into a home starts before she even walks into the front door. Your needs during these times are her priority.

Decorating is always at the forefront of Denise's mind. Making those rooms that are unrepresentable, prettier and worth looking at are her greatest gifts. She's moved several times during the course of her life making each house a home, regardless of her situation or how the place looked when she moved in. Her kitchen table and/or dining room is always presented with fresh placemats or tablecloths with a little something decorative on it as well. Her bedrooms are always quite important, as they are her place of peace and tranquility. The first room she enters when returning home so it is important that it looks neat and fresh.

Photos of the apartment she transformed. The landlord couldn't believe it "you have done an amazing job" she said, "It really looks beautiful".

Removed boxes, replaced blinds, added spheres to the centerpiece and added beaded placemats.

This master bedroom needed tender loving care. Changes included adding neutral curtains, art and new bedding. Clutter was removed and the desk chair replaced.

The walls were dingy and the blinds old and yellow. A new rug was added, walls painted, replaced blinds and added curtains.
